Notwithstanding the preoccupation of the public mind with the grave subject of the rebellion, yester day was no exception to the general rule in this country The politicians were busy as bees, the leaders laying their plans for the last time, the people making up their minus who to vote for, the candidates anxiously canva-sing for support, the carpenters nailing together the ballot boxes the printers dashing off the tickets, the inspectors posting themselves on the election laws, the "strikers" on the strike for "the needful," and all classes of the commu. nity looking forward with a certain degree of interest to the day which will decide the fate of so many aspirants for political place and emolument. Had one but a loan of that magic pair of slippers, so prettily described in one wearer could intrude himself unseen into the houses of the thousands of desizens in this metropolis, what strange Scenes he would witness, what curious conversations he behold unravelled with all the cunning and forecast of the prejarations for the election that important, useful and ubiquitous individual, the bill poster. Pot on arm, brush in hand and bundle on shoulder, he might be seen yester-day prowling about the gutters, stealing along dilapidated rences and gazing ardently at upturned cobble stones, all the while working like a Trejan at his favorite ocreckons a large portion of his strength, and the bill poster

Two more bables—one in a basket, the other in a cradle—complete the picture. What personage the engraver intended to delineate by the aforesaid middle aged gentleman we know not; but certain it is that the features of the infant prat-tier bear a striking resemblance to those of Massa "hush a by-baby" or not, it is impossible to say, but if such was the engraver's design we announce a most complete failure in the execution.

The tremendous canvass banners that used to be dis

During the evening the excitement about town was at the highest pitch. The ward committees, swelled by the friends of the caudidates, met at their respective head-quarters to arrange all the duties for the morrow. Bad whiskey flowed to an incredible extent, and money disapprestidigitator could ever hope to accomplish. Betting ran high, some offers of five to one having been made in favor of Lynch for Sheriff, and almost equally reckless wagers from the friends of Brown, the republican nomines. A favorite mode of betting seemed to be on majorities, and some of the most curious wagers were thus made and ac. cepted. Processions, with torchlight and burning tar bar-rel accompaniments, paraded in some of the districts; but these displays were rather few and far between—nothing

DEMOCRATIC REPUBLICAN GENERAL COMMITTEE ROOMS, TAMMANT HALL, NEW YORK, Oct. 5, 1861. DRAM SIR—It becomes our duty to transmit to you the resolutions adopted by the Democratic Republican General ing, held at Tammany Hall, on the 3d day of October inst. nd to respectfully request you to say whether the views expressed therein meet your approval. The resolutions are as follows:—

Resolved, That with a deep sense of the peril in which the Union and the constitution are involved, by the reckless war now being waged for their destruction by armed traitors, we hold it to be the first and most sacred duty of every man who loves his country to devote his energies and means, with all his heart and soul, to the earnest and resistless prosecution of the war, until the rebellion is utterly suppressed; not in a spirit or for the purpose of subjugation, but with the sole object of preserving the Union and the constitution, and vindicating the national flag and authority.

and resistless presecution of the war, until the rebelion is utterly suppressed; not in a spirit or for the purpose of subjugation, but with the sole object of preserving the Union and the constitution, and vindicating the national flag and authority.

Resolved, That there is now but one question to be considered, and but one object to be accomplished—the restoration of the national authority, throughout the whole length and breadth of the land, by the force of the national arms; and that so long as hostile forces renain in the fleid, seeking the destruction of the Union, this position must and will be resolutely maintained by every true hearted man.

Resolved, That in the presence of such dangers to the dearest interests of us all, the duty which patriotism on joins upon every man can only be fully discharged by disregarding, so far as may be necessary, all differences of opinion or action, on other questious past or present, and giving to the government, in the presecution of the war, a just, generous and liberal support.

Resolved, That it is the high and noble duty of the President of the United States, at this critical extgency in our country's history, to defend and preserve the rights, honor and integrity of the nation, which have been, by the vote of the people and the authority of the constitution, committed to his care and guidance; that, in the performance of this sacred trust, he is imperatively required by the strongest human obligations to take every step and do every act which may be necessary to secure the triumph of our arms and maintain the supremacy of the national power; and that his measures in this respect will be passed upon by a generous and patriotic people, over ready to sustain the public servant honosity laboring, with single minded devotion, for the public good, who, while they will demand that he shall not fall short of the full measure of his duty, will also judge of his actions with liberality and fairness, without party spirit, and with a just appreciation of the difficulties an

SOUTH ONSTER BAY, Queens County, Oct. 14, 1861.

GENTLEMEN—Your letter transmitting to me certain resolutions adopted by the Democratic Republican General Committee at Tammany Hail, on the 3d day of October inst., having bosen forwarded to me at this place from Aibany, only reached me te-day. I had supposed that my views in reference to the existing state of public affairs, and of the duty of all good citizens in this crisis of our country's history were not unknown to the people of this State, and especially not be the the intelligent committee by whose direction and as whose representatives you have communicated to me its resolves. I dislike much to appear before the public as a lotter writer at any time, and especially just on the eve of an election, knowing, as well do, shat intelligent people, in order to ascortain the sentiments or position of a candidate before them, will be apt to look not so much to his last words, forced as they may be by the demands of public opinion or other necessities of the occasion, as to his antecedents—to the quiet and uncontrolled course of public duty which he has been pursuing ever since the occurrence of those events which created the duty. If, with my friend and colleague, Mr. Richmond, I have done anything as a member of the Millary Board calculated to aid the citizen soldiery of this State in their patriotic efforts to serve their country in the field; if I have done aught to recommend and expedite the raising of a military force adequate to the magnitude and demands of the crisis; if on no occasion I have refused to accept the profered services of those companies who have entreated to be permitted taid in the suppression of this rebellion, so needlessly and wickediy forced upon us; I, in a word, my official course in the trying scenes through which we have been passing has not entirely escaped the attention of my fellow citizens, and has been such as to meet their approval; avenue and the citizen soldiery of this delity to principle and loy LETTER OF D. LETTER OF GEORGE G. SCOTT.

HALLSTON STA, Oct. 18, 1861.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a series of resolutions adopted on the 3d mst. by the Democratic Republican General Committee of the city of New York. The nominees upon the democratic State ticket have already, in their joint letter of acceptance, addressed to the Chairman of the Pemocratic State tommittee, given an expression of their views upon most of the subjects embraced in them. A copy of the letter is herewith enciosed. The attitude and avowed purpose of the robel States do not permit us to take a less decided and belligerent position than that which is taken in the resolutions. The President is bound by his oath to faithfully execute the duties of his odice, and to preserve, protect and defend the constitution to the best of his ability. It is his first and imperative duty to maintain the integrity of the thion, and whatever may become necessary for him to do in the accomplishment of this object will, in the appropriate language of one of your resolutions, "Be judged of by the people with liberality and fairness, without party spirit, and with a just appreciation of the difficulties and ember rassements by which he is surrounded." It is right that the citizens of the rebellious and disaffected States should feel assured that no military commander will be permitted to transcend the provisions of the Conficcation act passed at the late session of Congress. Unless they are satisfied that they will be protected in all the rights secured to them under the federal compact, it will be idie to talk of a Union, unless it be one maintained by bayonets. The President has taken the right stand upon this question, and it is evident from the rocent action of the Logislature of Connecticut, and other significant indications in regard to it, that he must rely mainty upon those who opposed his election to sustain him in his position. Respect position. Respectfully, yours, GEO. G. SCOTT.

BUFFALO, Oct. 21, 1861.

I have received a copy of your circular, containing the resolutions adopted by the Femocratic Republican Committee of the city of New York, at Tammany Hall, on the 3d inst., and requesting me to say whether the views therein expressed meet my approval. In reply. I have to say that I heartily concur in the spirit and sentiments of your resolutions, and beg leave to refer you to the letter of acceptance of myself and associates on the State icket, of the 18th ult., which is now before the public, as containing a full expression of my views on the subject, and which I now reiterate. Respectfully yours.

Yours, transmitting a copy of the resolutions adopted by the Democratic Republican General Committee of Tammany Hall, has been received. I have read the resolutions with great interest, and I have no hesitation in saying that the patriotic sentiments they so timely and so forcibly express meet my hearty concurrence. I am earnestly in favor of every measure and every effort calculated to maintain and preserve the Union of the States; and to this end I would cordially sustain the action of the government to the fullest extent. Absence from home on business of pressing importance prevented an early reception of your letter, and consequently a more prompt reply. Very respectfully, yours, &c., JARVIS LORD.
